INTERESTING READING MATTER ON FOURTH PAGE.

We invite attention to the advertisement of N. Plimadore, concerning lands for sale.

An excellent stock of Clothing, Overcoats, and Wraps, to fit all sizes.

The Citizen Job office is now supplied with Deeds of Conveyance.

Look out for the grand street parade at 12 o'clock to-day.

To-night the Minstrels sing, and the Bell Ringers discourse their sweetest notes.

We never saw so many and such fine Christmas goods on our market as now offered.

Baird's Minstrels, and the elegant Swiss Bell Ringers, to-night at the Opera House.

Col. A. H. Baird has just returned from an official trip to Cherokee and other western counties.

He reports every thing getting on very nicely in the west.

The papers everywhere speak in the highest terms of Baird's minstrels.

Be sure to see this superb company to-night at the Opera House.

Tobacco sales yesterday were quite large in spite of dry cold weather.

Prices were good and well sustained, and there is no apprehension of decline or weakness.

The mercury ran down yesterday morning to 10 above zero at sunrise.

Subsequently, the temperature rose to 32, and the day became a pleasant one, with only a light wind.

Reserved seats for the Minstrel and Swiss Hand Bell Ringers' only 75 cents at Sawyer's store.

Asheville will be surprised to-day at the splendor of the street parade 12 o'clock sharp.

Kalamazoo, Michigan, sold last season $2,000,000 worth of celery.

Turner, the popular restaurateur, has been receiving their celery for some time, and keeps it regularly on hand.

We are pleased to see with us again our old Tennessee friend Col. A. S. Horsely.

Work on the railroad from Augusta to Chattanooga has been suspended.

During yesterday afternoon the sky became overclouded, with a prospect ahead of snow.

Sawyer advertised in this issue his second stock for the season.

This speaks well for his business, and for Asheville.

The continued loads of iron plate being hauled to the stand pipe give promise of early completion of the work.

Gen'l Clingman is confined to his room at the Carolina Hotel, by illness.

We are glad to welcome Mr. W. A. Johnston as an associate to our corps of leaf letters.

His recent visit to Orlando, Fla., was a profitable one.

There is Christmas in the air, judging by the number of the shoppers, attracted out by the brilliancy of the stores.

Christmas will come with its usual welcome.

If the weather is cold, don't lose sight of the fact that baths will be seasonable next summer.

In time of peace prepare for war. When the summer comes let the public baths be ready for the people.

Hon. and Mrs. Thos. D. Johnston and family leave this morning for Spartanburg.

Where Mrs. J. will spend a few days with relatives before going on to Washington.

Mr. J. will leave for Washington Monday, Congress assembling on that day.

PRATT AND MCINTIRE. We invite attention to the card of the above firm, dealers in fresh meats, &c., at Schartle corner, court square.

The market is certainly an attractive place, all the meats, and every part thereof being most cleanly and artistically prepared for use.

They make a specialty of steaks, chops and dressed fowl. Give them a call.

THE BOILSTON GOLD MINING COMPANY—STUCK IT RICH—EXTRAORDINARY RESULTS—ONE WORTH EIGHT HUNDRED AND NINETEEN DOLLARS PER TON.

The CITIZEN has on several occasions alluded to the Boilston gold deposits in Henderson county.

The company which owns this valuable property, not desiring to sell it, have been most secretive as regards the results of their workings.

The gentlemen who own this property not desiring or intending to sell it, or any stock therein, are not disposed to communicate to the public much information concerning this property.

But having an opportunity to see a recent assay of some ore sent to the Charlotte mint, we stole a copy of the same, and herewith give it to the public to show what our country can produce when it only half tries.

The only trouble we have with our people is in getting them to let the world know what really exists in this country.

We intend, however, to force all the information we can from them, and publish all that we can get hold of, knowing that we can not make much of a mistake as to the real value.

But to the assay of the ore sent from the Boilston gold mine.

Sulphurets, value in coin per ton, gold $801.99; silver, $17.40; total, $819.39.

Signed, Robt. P. Waring, assayer mint, Charlotte, N. C.

There is now a ten-stamp mill, a twenty-five horse-power boiler and engine, with a concentrator, at work at these mines.

The company has four tunnels, which strike the vein and at all points result well. All is under the direction of skillful superintendents, of long service in gold mining in California; and these gentlemen are more than enthusiastic as to the results of their mines. Hurrah for our country!

ATTENTION. Parties desiring to reach the people are invited to advertise in the Daily and Weekly Citizen.

Our circulation is much larger than any other publication, and among the most substantial people, and advertising rates are low.

If people troubled with colds, would take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral before going to church or places of amusement, they would avoid coughing, greatly to the comfort of both speakers and hearers.

Public speakers and singers find that the Pectoral wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice.

A USEFUL PROSPECTING ROUTE—A PORTION OF VIRGINIA EXPLORED—BUT ASHEVILLE INTERESTED IN THE RESULTS.

A valuable and pleasant correspondent, whose interest in the welfare of the South, and especially of Western North Carolina, has frequently found expression through our columns, writes us as follows:

GLADSTONE, MISSISSIPPI, Nov. 20, 1886.

Editors, Citizen's Company, with Gen'l P. W. DeLoach, Vice-President of the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago railroad, Col. T. E. Austin, Chief Engineer of the same, and Mr. F. A. Stratton of Chattanooga, your correspondent is traveling through these mountains on a prospecting tour that will probably require several weeks.

We left Johnson City, Tenn., on the 15th inst., following the general course of the projected road, making such detours from the direct route as seemed necessary in order to test the quality of the coal, the lay of the land, the extent of the coal, iron and marble deposits, and all other things that would contribute to an intelligent understanding of the resources of the country, and of the feasibility of constructing a railroad through it in the best manner and at the least expense.

Thus far we have found no serious difficulties. The country, although mountainous, has better than our expectations to find. There never has been any question about building the road, but only which one of several routes should be selected.

This is determined not only by the conformation of the land, but also by the quantities of coal and iron ore to be found in the various sections. I must confess my surprise at what I have seen thus far.

Although I had prepared for the trip by reading whatever was accessible last fall of the mineral wealth of this region, I was not at all prepared to find in such inexhaustible quantities.

The section of Birmingham's growth in that way coal measures, iron ore and limestone are so near together that the cost of making iron is reduced to a minimum. The same conditions exist in this section of Virginia.

We have seen any number of seams of the best cooking coal wide enough to work with profit, and close at hand great veins of fossiliferous red hematite, and iron ore, which, given a railroad, and in a dozen places within a radius of seventy miles there are sites for other Birmingham and Anniston.

We saw at Eastville, the capital of Scott county, beautiful marbles. We have passed through or by forests as valuable as any in your transmontane country, we have seen farms on which horses, mules, sheep and beef cattle are raised with profit. We stopped at one house whose owner had a natural coal basin on his premises within a hundred feet of his back door, and was burning the fuel dug from it in his sitting room grate.

On another property we visited a coal vein five feet two inches thick and warmed our stoves with it at the rate made for it that illuminated the large parlor as that which is necessary.

Every day's advance furnishes new facts, and increases our confidence in the vastness of this country's unused nature.

We have seen enough already to satisfy our mind as to the value of the coal southward to Baker'sville will be of incalculable advantage to Asheville if your beautiful city can make a railway connection with it there.

You can make a fine domestic article of furniture, and ship your products of many kinds by a short route to the Ohio valley and the States bordering the Ohio river.

It is a matter of fact that the volume of your summer and winter visitors.

We leave here to-morrow and shall proceed forward steadily, studying the country carefully all along, until we have entered Kentucky and reached the point of twenty miles on which the railroad contractors are now preparing the road which will make the railroad now running from Asheville seventy instead of fifty miles long, and bring it into the midst of the finest canal coal district in the South.

We shall then visit the Hanging Rock furnace, and then returning shall take another and nearly parallel route to Johnson City. As yet we have had no really disagreeable weather, although considerable rain has fallen since we started.

When leisure permits you shall receive more notes by the way-side from Joe.

Reserved seats only 75 cents for the grand Minstrel performance Saturday night.

COLLECTIONS OF TAXES ON TOBACCO. The Western Tobacco Journal of the 23rd of November has a laboriously and accurately prepared table showing the amounts collected on tobacco in its various forms from the imposition of the revenue tax in 1862 to the present time.

The aggregate reaches the enormous sum of $17,873,343.08. The aggregate value of the tobacco and snuff from this tax was $469,986,695.63, and the number of pounds of tobacco on which the value was based was 2,562,162,560.

An enormous quantity, and an enormous value, and an enormous tax, which leads the Journal to say "no other article of manufacture and consumption (aside from liquor) has paid into the National treasury anything like as large a sum in the same time."

It is a matter demanding the earnest and immediate attention of our Congressmen; especially as the continuous exaction of the tax goes to the increase of the large and hurtful surplus accumulating in the Treasury.

Just What They All Say. Hon. D. D. Hayden, of Salem, Mass., says he uses Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in his family with the most satisfactory results.

Just Received, Splendid Clothing (including Overcoats) and Derby Hats in Dunlaps, Yarns and Miller's shops, also new styles in Soft Hats.

LATEST NEWS.

A new extradition treaty has been negotiated by our government with Japan.

The mercury on the 2nd was 2 below zero in Chicago, and at Duquesne 10 below.

A mail robber has been arrested in Detroit, who confesses to thefts amounting to $33,000.

L. B. Franks & Co., the oldest stock firm in Nevada, has failed with liabilities of $600,000.

Several slight earthquake shocks at Charleston on the 2nd were accompanied with much noise, and but little destructive motion.

The jury for the second trial of ex-Judge McQuade has been completed after several changes had been made in the members as originally chosen.

A telegram from Algiers, Nov. 24, says: It is reported that the steamship Chandernagore, with 1,2000 French troops on board, has foundered during a cyclone, and that all on board were lost.

A German physician has recently given the following as a specific cure for diphtheria. We give among our "latest news" as being possible, the best "news" we can give to the affected or endangered. He says:

We gave with great success rectified oil of turpentine (oleum terebinthine rectificatum). Dose, one teaspoonful in the morning and the same in the evening.

Adults should take one tablespoonful. Afterward drink a little lukewarm milk to allay the burning of the throat.

For children the second dose can be mixed with milk, which will render it easier to take.

The result is really marvelous. The inflammation of the abnormal diphtheritic spots in the throat goes lighter at the edges, and in this way they gradually shrink until in twenty-four hours they disappear entirely, leaving no sign.

To quiet the inflamed tonsils the throat was gargled at first every two hours, and then every three hours, with the following gargle: One ounce chlorate of potash to forty ounces distilled water.

FRIENDS OF THE LATE JONATHAN CARTER, TAKE NOTICE. Hon. Thos. D. Johnston has received the following letter, which we copy for the benefit of those concerned:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30, 1886. Hon. Thos. D. Johnston:

Dear Sir:—Will you please inform me if you have any knowledge of the family of the late Jonathan Carter, formerly of the United States Navy, and later of the Confederate Navy. He was born in, and appointed from the State of North Carolina. After the late war he resided at Shreveport, La., where I am informed he died, and after his death his family returned to North Carolina. I have some funds belonging to him, and would like to pay it over if I can find them.

Yours truly, JOHN T. MYRTLE, 1214 F. St.

THE PERTINACIOUS WATER-PROOF CALSKINS. Our popular boot and shoe artist, Mr. Frack has just secured a bonanza in the way of superior calskins for his customers.

He says it is the finest leather, for gentlemen's or ladies' fine boots and shoes he ever handled. The points claimed for it are toughness, it is almost impossible to tear it and it will not crack; softness, whether cold or hot, wet or dry it is always soft and easy for the most tender feet; waterproof, will turn water better than any other leather; color a set black that will not fade or turn red; unlike all other grain leather it will take a high polish with ordinary shoe blacking.

Mr. Frack invites his friends and customers to call and examine this superior leather, and leave orders. nov30d16
